

AKASHI SINGLE MALT BOURBON BARREL 7YR

AKASHI, JAPAN

2023 SILVER: THE SAN FRANCISCO WORLD SPIRITS COMPETITION

This special Akashi single malt is aged for seven years exclusively in first fill ex-bourbon barrels and is the oldest we have seen state side from this small but mighty distillery. A rich nose full of marzipan, pecans, and peat smoke, layers wonderfully with its weighty palate. The flavor is packed with grilled figs, clove, vanilla cream, cocoa powder, and sea salt. The Akashi Single Malt 7yr Bourbon Barrel is sure to be a watermark for the distillery in years to come.

EIGASHIMA SHUZO

Eigashima Shuzo (known as White Oak Distillery in Japan) is one of Japan's oldest family-run distilleries with centuries of beverage making experience. Situated just a stone throw's away from Osaka Bay in the fishing village of Akashi, the distillery enjoys a warm, coastal climate all year round. Due to the small nature of the company, Eigashima dedicates certain seasons to distill their various spirits as the different liquors are produced by the same group of people. An assortment of ex-bourbon, oloroso sherry, brandy, and barley shochu casks are the main barrels used in production of their core whiskies. However, unique barrels of tequila, cognac, and their own Eigashima wine casks are reserved for specialty single barrel finishes.
