

MARS IWAI 45 WHISKY

NAGANO, JAPAN

Kiichiro Iwai (pronounced "E-Y") is the silent pioneer of Japanese Whisky and the namesake of this modern blend from Mars. Distilled in Nagano at their Komagatake Distillery, Iwai 45 is a higher proof version of the classic Iwai Whisky. Predominantly made from grain with some supporting malt, this version was made specifically with application to the modern cocktail in mind. Iwai 45 will stand up to and support virtually any ingredient it is paired with. Full of texture and balance, Iwai 45 is crafted for the international bartender.

MARS DISTILLERY

Mars Hombo can trace its roots back to the very beginning of malt whisky in Japan. Founded by the silent pioneer of Japanese whisky, Kiichiro Iwai, Mars has embraced innovation and experimentation to complement its traditional technique. Their high elevation Nagano distillery Shinshu reopened in 2011 after long being dormant, ushering a new era of whisky distilling. The comparatively low elevation Tsunuki distillery was opened in 2016 in Kagoshima, the site of Mar's founding location. With these two distilleries, Mars also has a third location on the tiny, rain swept island of Yakushima, used specifically to age its whisky. Kiichiro Iwai's visionary ideas are the bedrock of Mars Hombo and continue to keep their distilleries rooted in historic tradition while continuing the progression of Japanese whisky.
