

JAMAICAN DARK RUM CASK

KILLOWEN BONDED EXPERIMENTAL SERIES 10 YR OLD WHISKEY

MOURNE MOUNTAINS, IRELAND

Since the incipient of Killowen Distillery, we have been carefully sourcing whiskeys that are a minimum of ten years old from different distilleries all across Ireland. Throughout this time, we also hunted the globe for the finest casks to complement certain flavour notes in the blends.

Amongst the vibrant blended whiskey culture in Ireland, the Killowen series stands out with its unique ratio of malts and grain whiskeys, the blend is then finished with a dominant yet balanced cask influence. This allows the consumer to enjoy an educative experience while drinking which is enhanced by extensive production transparency on the bottle labelling.

TASTING NOTES

NOSE: A balance of coconut and banana on one hand with vanilla and candy orange on the other. A mild spice towards the end of the arrival.

PALATE: A marriage of apricot and coconut flesh from the start with a large vanilla influence, vanilla not just from the American oak sap, but mostly from the casks' previous dark rum contents.

FINISH: A long Brown Sugar finish with chunks of butterscotch returning to apricot with a hint of Coffee.

KILLOWEN SMALL BATCH IRISH DISTILLERY

The most authentic of distilleries, Killowen Distillery is seated in the heart of the Mourne Mountains in County Down, where horizons are framed by sweeping hills that slope gently into the sea. It is a place where old traditions and the finest natural resources have been blended to produce world class craft spirits.

Killowen Distillery has a cult following that describe it as a 'true distillery.' Seated at the slopes of Knock Shee (the Fairy Mountain), the path to the distillery is the path smugglers took during the Napoleonic Wars to bring French brandy into the North of Ireland and until recently was a perfect hideout for local poitín makers (moonshiners).
